Wallingford Station and Historic Homestead

Wallingford Station has played an important role in New Zealand's agricultural and political heritage. Home to the Ormond family since 1853, the homestead is now ably managed by Jen Ormond as a luxurious and welcoming escape for discerning guests. In addition to fine dining and 13 commodious guest bedrooms furnished to a high standard, Wallingford offers croquet on the lawns, a heated pool in summer and impressive outdoor pavilion, clay bird shooting, archery and elevated golfing driving range.

Artist's Retreat with Jacky Pearson

Jacky Pearson is one of New Zealand's most celebrated watercolour artists. The beauty and sensitivity evident in her work is supported by an accomplished command of this exacting medium. Her reputation as a teacher is well-established, domestically and globally, and Jacky very much enjoys leading painting holidays and seminars.

Weekend package

Arriving on Friday, guests will be welcomed with afternoon tea and provided time to settle before assembling for pre-dinner drinks and canapés in the formal drawing room, prior to a dinner of cordon bleu standard. Following a hearty cooked or continental breakfast on Saturday, guests with artistic leaning will enjoy plein air and studio workshops with Jacky, taking advantage of the station's many picturesque vistas or the space and light within the historic chapel. A picnic lunch can be provided or guests can return to the homestead for a midday repast. For spouses, there are many leisure options including poolside relaxation, a guided walk through the Wallingford Trufferie, an excursion to Porangahau beach or the site with the Longest Place Name, and a game of golf at the Porangahau Country Club. For all guests, croquet on the lawn before a lavish dinner will complete a wonderful day. On Sunday, after a day of similar pursuits, pre-dinner cocktails in the outdoor pavilion will precede a relaxed dining experience.
